Prof. Dr Markus Planker

Markus advises on the realisation of commercial and public real estate projects. This includes the design, drafting and negotiation of the relevant project agreements, their management and the provision of relevant advice, in particular with regard to how they affect the parties during the construction process. He frequently advises entities in the public sector on the structuring and legally compliant design of procurement processes and - where necessary - represents clients in review proceedings as well as in the enforcement of claims in court.
